STATE OF HAWAII OFFICE IN BEIJING (SHOB)

The State of Hawaii Office in Beijing (SHOB) continues to receive positive feedback from Chinese schools and education counselors after the first Study Hawaii mission to China in October 2014, which included participation in the China Education Expo in Beijing and campus visits to prospective schools with a history of sending students abroad upon graduation or for short-term programs during the school year. The mission also included a Study Hawaii seminar for Chinese educators, ministry officials and international education counselors. Schools participated in this seminar and educators and prospective students attended.

Hawaii has a strong brand presence among Chinese educators and students as a world-class tourist destination. For visitors to the Hawaii Pavilion at the China Education Expo it was the first time they were presented with credible information about Hawaii as a place for international students to study. The mission was successful in educating the Chinese to look at Hawaii as an education destination for Chinese students.

The SHOB followed up their successful effort as follows:

- From March 24-25, 2015, SHOB marketed Study Hawaii and their member institutions at the Asia Pacific Association for International Education (APAIE) taking place in Beijing. APAIE is the largest education fair targeting professional educators in the Asia Pacific region.
- From October 24-25, 2015, SHOB participated in the China Education Expo with a booth promoting the Study Hawaii Education Consortium. Over 1,200 visitors came to the Hawaii booth to inquire about educational opportunities in Hawaii. Many of visitors asked about high school education programs. Educators are interested in developing partnership or exchange programs (2+1, 2+2 programs, or teacher training) and summer/winter camps in Hawaii.
